SHELLFISH REGULATIONS

AUTHORITY: the following rules and regulations are hereby adopted by authority of Massachusetts general laws chapter 130, section 52 by the Board of Selectmen, Town of Fairhaven. Under the above authority all persons are prohibited from taking eels, clams, quahogs, oysters, scallops, or seaworms from the coastal waters or flats of the Town of Fairhaven. Permits and licenses shall be limited to the regulations set forth here in.

NOTE: applies to all shellfishing regardless of type of permit or license. Commercial scallop regulations and special regulations covering temporary closings due to pollution, planting, or experimental programs may be established as needed.

RAIN SCHEDULE:

Any area designated as a rain area as described on maps attached to Town of Fairhaven Shellfish Regulations are open only when a “yellow flag” is displayed at two locations. The first location is Baxter Ave. off Sconticut Neck Rd. and governs the west side of the Sconticut Neck rain areas. The second is displayed at Knollmere Beach at the end of Weeden Rd.

When flags are displayed as red (or no flag at all) all shell fishing is prohibited in the rain areas as shown on the map.

Rainfall amounts in excess of .3 inches will cause rain areas to be closed and a red flag displayed. Once red flags are displayed they will fly for 5 consecutive days and then taken down and changed to yellow. If during the 5 day period another rain even occurs and the rainfall is .3 inches or more of rain another 5 day period shall begin. Rainfall is measure at the Sewerage Treatment facility on Arsene St. between 7:15 AM and 7:45 AM daily if rain is detected.

Fairhaven will coordinate their rainfall amounts with the City of New Bedford between 7:15 AM and 7:45 AM on rain dates. If either community has .3 inches or more of rainfall the west side of Sconticut Neck will be closed per rain area regulation. If during the day rainfall is significant, flags may be changed if warranted. Shell Fishermen should watch for closures as it helps protect the public.

Due to coordination requirements flags will be changed by 8:00 AM per rain date regulations. It is also understood any Shell Fishermen fishing from a boat, including divers, shall not leave the dock before 8:00 AM. This regulation shall be enforced vigorously to ensure all are aware of the flag being displayed for that day.

Rain Schedules as described in the Town of Fairhaven may be superseded by the Commonwealth of Mass Marine Fisheries Div. if they deem it necessary they may close the entire or part of the shell fishery area in Fairhaven for a period they deem required.
